Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION
Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3, 6, 7, 11, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by 2001 Ford Mustang Convertible.

The 2001 Ford Mustang Convertible has a roof which includes, in the closed state, a section of a transversely running roof strut on an area directly adjacent to the windshield frame that protrudes farther into the passenger compartment than the roof area lying behind it, as shown in the attachment. The section has a pair of large-area recesses that face the passenger compartment. Each recess is covered by a latch-actuating handle, see red arrow in attachment. The handle meets the limitation of a deformable covering in that the handle covers the recess and is inherently capable of deforming when subjected to a force greater than the strength of the material. In reference to claim 3, two coverable recesses are present, symmetric to a vertical longitudinal center plane of the vehicle, to provide a recess for the driver side latch handle and the passenger side latch handle. In reference to claim 6, the coverings lie on the section protruding into the passenger compartment in an area where a driver and/or passenger may have a head impact during a front collision based on seat position and size of the person. In reference to claim 7, locking parts of the latch can be mounted through the recesses to lock the roof strut to the windshield frame. In reference to claim 11, the vehicle has a movable vehicle roof. In reference to claim 12, the latch parts are safety catches in the form of hooks, as shown in the attachment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the 2001 Ford Mustang Convertible.

The 2001 Ford Mustang Convertible does not disclose the claimed size of the surface of the covering.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the latch handles of the 2001 Ford Mustang Convertible with a surface area of 70 square centimeters facing the passenger compartment to enlarge the handles to provide a surface that is easier to grip.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 4, 5, and 8-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
